

Avoid embarrassing confidential information disclosures, costly litigation and recover equipment investments utilizing our data destruction services — fully DoD 5220.22-M compliant.

Throwing away expensive technology as required when using typical data wiping / destruction services is costly and doesn't facilitate recovery of your IT investments. Allenfield Solutions will enable your business to safely and effectively increase return on investment while decreasing risk when you need to liquidate used assets. We can service any on-line storage technology and on-site services are available for customers that require the equipment never leave their site. All services rendered are meticulously documented for auditor review.
